Although Chancellor Fehrenbach declared the situation was serious as a result of the virtual ultimatum of the allies, he was optimistic.

Dr. Gessler, German minister of defense, declared he was happy to have the opportunity of discussing disarmament, but he hinted he would resign unless the allies allowed Germany more favorable terms. It was reported, Gessler said, that the power—my God—if I don't do best to fulfill those promises."

Tears trickled down the chancellor's cheeks as he spoke.

In the opening debate, Lloyd George declared the entente was disappointed with Germany's failure to fulfill the treaty terms. He said what the allies wanted was hope.

He said Germany was entitled to 100,000 men and rifles and 2000 machine guns. Instead, the British premier continued, Germany has 200,000 men, 50,000 machine guns, 12,000 guns and millions of rifles. "We do not mean to be harsh or cruel, but we intend to avoid risk of trouble either with German miltarlists or German Bolsheviks," the British premier said. "If Germany was sincere, disarmament would have been accomplished long ago. If the Germans produce definite plans for destruction of war material, better relations will follow. Otherwise the entente assumes that Germany either does not intend or does not empower us to carry out her obligations."

BELGIUM'S INDEMNITY PROTEST SIDETRACKED.

Lloyd George held private discussions with the Polish representative regarding Poland's share of the German indemnity and the Danzig question. It was believed Belgium's indemnity protest had been sidetracked for the immediate present.

The Constantine government mu-sign the Turkish peace treaty within ten days after its presentation, was decided at a conference of premiers today. Turkey's plea for revision was refused. The communiqué issued following the premier's meeting said:

"The allied premiers considered the reply to the Turkish peace treaty today. It was decided that it would be impossible to make any revision."

STATE NEWS

MERCED, July 7.—The locomotive and baggage car of train No. 3 on the Yosemite Valley railroad were derailed at a point about two miles above Bagby in the Merced river canyon. Al Toakum, the engineer, who lives at El Portal, suffered two fractured ribs and lacerations about the head and body. His fireman was uninjured. The baggage car suffered a broken arm. No passenger on the train was hurt. The train was bound from El Portal at the edge of the Yosemite National park, to Merced, where it connects with the main lines.

Three Pullmans, containing a number of members of the New Jersey delegation to the Democratic convention in San Francisco, remained on the track. A special train was sent from Merced and brought the passengers and the injured engineer to this city.

OROVILLE MAN DROWNED.
OROVILLE, July 7.—While his distracted wife ran up and down the banks of Feather river, D. N. Catlin, a resident of this city, was drowned while attempting to swim the stream north of Oroville. In celebration of Independence day, Mr. and Mrs. Catlin, accompanied by their son, went for an outing on the banks of the Feather. Following the children to the river, Mr. Catlin saw his wife and infant son, swim the river as they watched.

The body has not been recovered.

BUREAU RECOVERING.
SANTA ROSA, July 7.—Luther Burbank is to be out in the sunshine amid his flowers and plants in his garden here for the first time since his recent indisposition.

He stated he was feeling much better and will soon be himself again, adding that he must now catch up with the work that had to lag while he was ill.

ARCHITECT DROWNED.
BAKERFIELD, July 7.—Search is being made for the body of Thomas B. Wiseman, 35, architect of Bakerfield, who was drowned in the swift waters of the Upper Kern river. He slipped from a rock to which he had waded and was carried down through the rapids. He was well known as an architect in Douglas, Ariz., Los Angeles and Southern California, and was a member of the American Institute of Architects. He is survived by a widow and three children.

SACRAMENTO ENDS LIFE.
SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Continued brooding over the death of his mother is believed to have been the motive which prompted Justus Staiger, 30, to fire a bullet through his heart in his room at the Hermitage club. Staiger, who had been employed as a linotype operator at the state printing office for the last three years, is survived by a brother, George Staiger, of San Francisco.

PISTOL DUEL STAGED.
BAKERFIELD, July 7.—After a pistol duel with three Bakerfield policemen at the desert, Staiger here and later captured in a running gun fight, E. W. Tucker, alleged to be insane, is held in the county jail here pending communication with his family.

SEARCH IS FUTILE FOR KIDNAPED GIRL.
LOS ANGELES, July 7.—"They seem to have disappeared from the face of the earth," declared Deputy Sheriff Robert Cronin today, at the close of more than two weeks' hunt for Clyde Bissell, 16-year-old Elizabeth Magee.

The sheriff holds a warrant charging Bissell, a linotype operator from Pittsburgh, Pa., aged 26, with kidnapping the girl. Bissell, who was Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Magee of Los Angeles.

The girl disappeared from her home June 12. Bissell was missing the same day. A week later a series of letters began arriving from various points—Oakland, Porterville and Los Angeles—purporting to come from Bissell, the girl or their friends, saying the two were together.

One contained a photograph of the girl and described such shocking practices as it set postal inspectors on Bissell's trail.

The last clue was a report that the two were seen driving an automobile across the desert east of Porterville. Officers gave pursuit, but the trail seemed to fade away in the desert and was lost. In the meantime fears for the girl's mother are expressed. She hardly sleeps, according to her husband, and each night leaves a light burning in the window in hope that her daughter may come home.

Court Rules Upon Entrants' Petitions.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Candidates for the two positions of associate justice of the court of appeals do not need to specify why they desire to succeed when they file their announcement. This decision of the Supreme Court upholds the petition of one of the candidates, Judge J. A. McCall, and is at issue with the election notice sent out by Frank Jordan, secretary of state. The notice said that outside candidates should file for the vacant positions of Frank S. Brittain and John V. Nourse.

W. G. Abramson Will Be Buried Tomorrow.
Funeral services for W. G. Abramson, traveling representative for The Oakland Tribune, will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. from the undertaking chapel at Telegraph avenue and Twenty-seventh street. A brief illness resulted in his death yesterday.

Abramson was born in Minnesota in 1875. He was affiliated with several fraternal orders. Besides a sister, he is survived by his mother, a sister and two brothers.

Trip Exaggerated, Rep. Elston's View.
Congressman J. A. Elston, of Berkeley, today is presenting himself as an "Exhibit A" in an emphatic denial that he is on his way to the Philippines with the Foreign Affairs committee of the House. Elston was the committee to receive the visiting congressman, and by mistake his name was included in some of the lists of those to take the trip.

WOMAN ROBBER'S SANITY DOUBTED

FAIRFIELD, July 7.—Mrs. Flora Richards, accused of the robbery of the house of Peter Cook in Rio Vista, developed another curious feature in her case yesterday. Upon a four-hour grilling by District Attorney Landauer and Judge W. T. O'Donnell, when she appeared with her counsel, Deryl L. Gregg, it developed that she was a spiritualist and believes she holds communication with the spirits each day.

Mrs. Richards was brought into court yesterday afternoon on her application for probation. The hearing was held with Mrs. Peter Cook, Peter Cook Jr. and other members of the family present. At times Mrs. Richards would break out in a "huge burst of oratory, but after a few hours of steady grilling away and flew into a fit of spiritualistic epigrams.

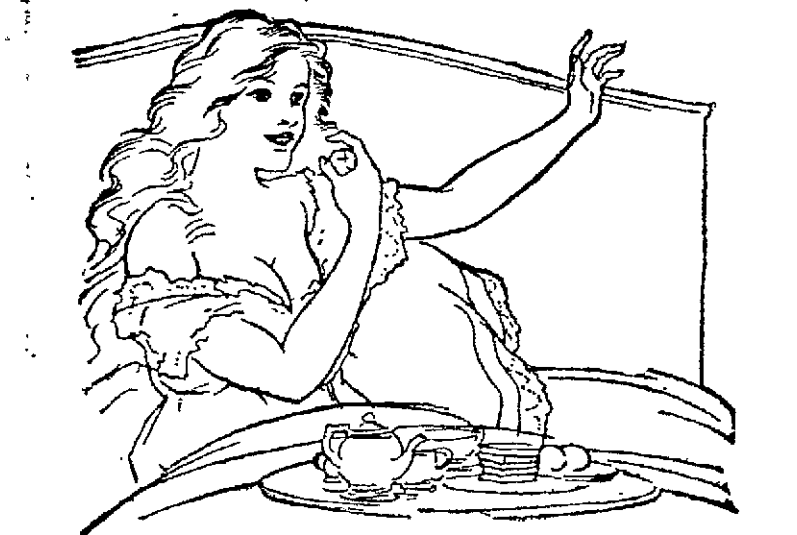

The result of the questioning was a decision to hold her for trial by jury to determine the sanity. The trial will be held September 10.

In the meantime the defendant will be under observation of the doctors in the county jail. The motion for probation and time set for sentence will be continued until after the hearing on the insanity charge.

Here is another very striking instance of the value of Tanlac to persons suffering from the after effects of influenza. James E. When I got up from the influenza in February and was ed back to work I was so weak that it was all I could do to keep going. My whole system seemed to be completely out of order, and I could

Kidney Remedy for 40 Years A Pronounced Success

When kidney diseases have been successfully treated for a period of more than forty years, it is reasonable to assume that the remedy therefore must possess unusual merits. Such is the remarkable record of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy. Without its ability to give relief and benefit its users so that they may continue to use it, it could not have existed 40 years, much less 40 years of its enviable record. Many letters have come to us to prove that it has been a household remedy for years and years. Here is what one grateful woman has recently written:

"I wish to say that your remedies have been used in our family for fifteen years. We are never without a bottle of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy in our home, and it has saved many a doctor's bill. H. N. Y.

Husband Sues Man for Shooting Wife

FAIRFIELD, July 7.—Maurice Ruano has filed a suit for $10,000 damages against Alfonso Parial of River Island, alleging negligence and carelessness in handling a gun, thereby causing the death of the wife of plaintiff.

On June 3, the plaintiff alleges, his wife was in a room in a house on River Island sitting near the partition between her room and a room occupied by the defendant, when she was shot in the neck by the defendant from the next room and died within a few minutes.

At the coroner's inquest it was set forth by the defendant that his shot gun was standing in the corner when he went into the room and threw his coat upon it. Upon so doing, the defendant states, the gun fell and went off. Hearing a shriek he went into the next room and found the woman in a sitting position in a pool of blood. Upon obtaining help upon returning, she was found to be dead.

Rodeo Nets $5000; Receipts Are $15,000

LIVERMORE, July 7.—M. G. Callaghan, secretary of the Livermore Stockmen's Rodeo association, reported today that $15,000 has been realized from the three-day rodeo that closed Monday. Of this $10,000 will be applied toward the expenses of this year's show, and $5000 will be used in paying off the debt on the rodeo grounds. These grounds, 20 acres, were acquired three years ago and in that time the debt has been reduced from $40,000 to $3000. It is intended to present the grounds to the city for a park, when the debt is paid.

OPPOSITION SEEN TO JOINT SCHOOL

PLEASANTON, July 7.—The board of supervisors has set Monday, July 13, as the date when they will hear the petition of the Livermore high school district which sets forth that a number of Pleasanton children are attending that school and asking that the board make an order of annexation. Preliminary steps have already been taken and the hearing will allow the people of this district to state their position.

The action of the Livermore school board was taken under the state law which provides for this annexation. The subject was publicly discussed last night at a meeting of a special meeting of the Pleasanton chamber of commerce. A large representation of taxpayers then signed their willingness to pay the Livermore high school district for each Pleasanton child there.

The law provides that if within 60 days after such an order of annexation is made, a contest signed by a majority of the electors of the elementary school be filed with the supervisors, that body shall rescind their order of annexation, and shall cause to be levied a tax which shall cover for all the expenses incurred by the district in educating children from the outside district. It is expected that there will be a good attendance. The annexation will probably be opposed.

National Educators Oppose Fusion With Labor Unions

SALT LAKE CITY, July 7.—The National Education Association's "commission on the emergency in education" made a clear-cut recommendation against affiliation of teachers with any "religious, political or economic group" in a report presented to the association today. It is with others to be made by various committees will be acted upon at the business session next Friday morning.

The report, read by George D. Strayer, of Columbia University, vice-president of the association, said: "Teachers as a unit cannot federate with labor * * * and at the same time hope to keep the confidence of the whole people."

It described steps leading to the drafting of the Smith-Towner bill to create a department of education with its head a member of the President's cabinet, and made an argument in behalf of the measure. "It is a sound principle which proposes that the wealth of the nation be put back of the education of all its children," the report declared.

MINIMUM SALARY $1800
Touching on salaries, the report asserted $1800 was the minimum necessary for "existence" without provision for the future, and declared that $1800 annually was necessary to assure the average teacher economic independence. It added that 10 to 20 per cent additional must be paid if the teacher is to have opportunity for "cultural growth." The report said it was an error to draft "the ablest of our class-room teachers for administrative posts."

The question of affiliation of teachers' organizations with labor bodies brought on a stormy session at the meeting of the National Council of Education, in which Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of schools of Los Angeles, referred to Miss Margaret Haley of the Chicago Teachers' Association as a "soap box orator."

CLAXTON URGES RAISE
P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, in an address, declared one need of the schools of the country was assurance of permanently higher salaries. Salaries that had the same relative purchasing power as those paid before the war, he said, would secure the services of only a "make-shift" class of teachers.

Duties of citizens are taught in the schools, and the children are first studies in governmental theory in the grades, and second, application of the theories in a student self-government in the high school. Benezet, superintendent of the Evansville schools, said in a talk at the National Education Association convention here last night.

Reduction of Hallowsen damage was one tangible result of the first lesson, which dealt with destruction of property, Benezet declared. The lesson was given late in October, just before Hallowsen, and, police records showed, the loss was one-fifth that of previous years.

Lessons in the grades deal with current events, he said. One was taken from the Boston police strike, another from the Russian Soviet government, which brought out duties of citizens in the face of threatened epidemics, with the necessity for increased production and elimination of waste and extravagance.

PUBLISHERS SCORED
Publishers of textbooks for the public schools were condemned as being unpatriotic by J. W. Pearson, professor of English at the State agricultural college at Manhattan, Kan. He asserted that the daily press was far more patriotic and that the book publishers had allowed foreign propaganda to creep into the books which were used for the education of young Americans.

Other speeches were delivered on Americanization, the need for closer co-operation between the public and teachers and the necessity of educating the public mind as to what it should read. One speaker declared that there was a need for more "lucid" stuff on the literature market and that many persons simply read "mushy" books without the least ambition to improve their mind. As a result, he declared, they suffered from "emotional indigestion."

Frank Gould Wins French Divorce Case

PARIS, July 7.—The court of appeals today upheld the decision of the lower courts granting Frank Jay Gould a divorce from Edith Kelly Gould. Gould was granted a divorce from Edith Kelly Gould in Paris in 1919. Prospectors for Oil Find Platinum Ore
GOLD HILL, Ore., July 6.—Local oil prospectors working in the Deer Creek country between Grants Pass and Weir are jubilant over the discovery that has diverted their attention entirely from oil. They have uncovered an extensive deposit of ore containing platinum to the value of $126 a ton, $105 in tin and manganese $6.95.

HURLED BABY TO SAFETY.
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 6.—Mrs. Lewis Limp, living east of Champaign, saved her baby from injury by throwing it from a wagon when the vehicle was struck by an automobile near Homer. She suffered broken legs and other injuries.

Richmond Will Hire City Manager Long Re-Elected Mayor By Council

RICHMOND, July 7.—The ordinance creating the office of city manager was adopted by the council on second reading last night. The ordinance provides for the appointment of a city manager on July 15, to take over most of the detail executive work now performed by the council. No formal announcement of the name of the man to be selected has yet been made, although it is rumored that City Auditor J. A. McVittie is slated for the job.

LONG RENAMED MAYOR
Mayor James N. Long of Richmond was last night re-elected for another year by the City Council. Long was elected to the office by the council a year ago, and is now entering upon his second year as mayor. His re-election last night was made unanimous by the members of the council present. In a few words the mayor thanked the members of the council for the honor again bestowed upon him.

RAIL CONFAB CALLED
A conference between representatives of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads and members of the City Council has been called for next Tuesday night, July 13, for the purpose of discussing a joint franchise for the operation of a steam line tapping the new industrial district that will be opened by the erection of the huge Procter & Gamble food products plant on the river harbor waterfront and the district lying between the factory site and Point Richmond.

The Southern Pacific has informally asked for a franchise on cutting boulevard, permitting the operation of steam drawn trains, but this is opposed because the boulevard is one of the heavy traffic streets of the city. A proposal that the franchise be granted on Port street, and through unopened streets may be accepted by the company, but the council desires that other railroads be not excluded from this district by the granting of a franchise. The Santa Fe already has lines in the vicinity and the purpose of the conference is to get the railroads together on an agreement that will neither exclude the new franchise nor the other of the district. The roads now necessitate the granting of franchises on several streets in order that all lines may be given entry to the district.

ELECTROLOGERS DISCUSSED
Tentative proposals for the erection of electrologers on Macdonald avenue will be discussed by the City Council at a special conference with Manager G. N. Rooker of the Western States Gas and Electric Company. The city is entering into a new contract for power with the company and wishes to make provisions for the installation of electrologers in the contract. No formal action is contemplated by the city now, but information last night was that the matter might be taken in the near future.

HARBOR VOTE ORDERED
The City Council last night adopted a resolution declaring the improvement of the Richmond inner harbor a public necessity and fixing the amount of a bond issue necessary for the improvement at $400,000. The call for the election will be made at a later date. City Attorney D. J. Hall advised that the election could legally be held with the state primary election in August, but that separate ballot boxes and ballots would be required. The election may be called at a date later than the August primary, owing to the short time before this election. In discussing the proposition councilmen agreed that every effort should be made to insure the success of the election.

LIBRARY ADVERTISING
The value of advertising has been realized by Miss Norah McNeill, librarian of the Richmond public library, and she is letting the public know through window display, theater signs and posters what the library has to offer, through its books.

A fine display of the resources and the various lines along which the library can furnish education, information, pleasure and amusement, are shown in a window at 420 Macdonald avenue. In the window are books from fairy stories, through romance and adventure, biography to the arts and mechanics and a wide variety of magazines.

A few statistics posted show that 155,476 books were circulated in the past year, an increase of 36,000 over the previous year. Children drew 54,585 books, while 11,420 picture books were borrowed by the public school teachers.

PREMIER UCHIDA DEFENDS BAN ON PICTURE BRIDES

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
TOKYO, July 7.—In a speech in the House of Representatives today with regard to anti-Japanese movements in the United States, Representative Etsujirō Uchida asked why the government did not insist on the lawful rights of the Japanese in the matter of prohibiting the sending of picture brides to America.

Foreign Minister Uchida replied that he regarded the anti-Japanese agitation with the utmost anxiety. He added that the prohibition on picture brides was quite inevitable. The citizens of the province of Hiroshima, from which many of the emigrants in California come, have decided to send an open letter to the people of California, protesting against the suggested land laws and other anti-Japanese legislation.

COURT HOLDS UP HIGHWAY DICTUM

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—The Third District Court of Appeal has set aside an opinion of Judge J. A. Plummer, presiding justice pro tem, which would have halted all highway work in the state by restricting state officials from selling $3,000,000 worth of highway bonds by raising the rate of return with Federal road funds.

The case was ordered to be reopened Monday, July 12, by Justice E. C. Hart and A. G. Burnett, Plummer agreeing, because the document was "prematurely given out for publication."

Judge Plummer's decision directed the issuance of writs of mandate to W. R. Ellis, former secretary of the State Highway Commission, and State Treasurer W. Richardson, State Controller John S. Chambers, and the State engineering department, to enjoin the placement of Federal road moneys in the State highway fund and stop its use in raising the interest on bonds.

According to Justices Burnett and Hart, the opinion was given out for publication by Plummer before it had been considered in the court, and filed in the clerk's office of the court. Judge Hart said Plummer had given his decision to the press under the impression that it had been filed in the clerk's office. However, he maintained that he had not read the opinion until it appeared in the newspapers.

LOVE IN FRANCE, WED IN OAKLAND

Two war romances, blossoming in Bordeaux, France, and culminating in a double wedding in Oakland, were revealed today when the girls applied for licenses to wed soldiers here.

The girls, who came over on the same ship, lost each other in New York, traveled alone to Oakland and then met their prospective husbands. Then they were reunited.

Charles P. Siedendorff, 32, of Escalon, and Madeline Bats, 18, of Bordeaux, were the first to apply for licenses. They had just filed the office when John C. Shay, 37, of 2004 San Antonio avenue, Alameda, and Miss Claire Maurice, 23, of Bordeaux, applied.

When Stewart Gemmell, clerk, remarked that he had just issued a license to another girl from Bordeaux, the story came out. As the first couple had proceeded to the office of Police Judge Mortimer Smith to be married, Gemmell hastened the second license and both couples were married at the same time by the judge.

Population Figures Given Out by Census

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Preliminary population figures were announced today by the census bureau as follows: California, 1920 population, 2,587,127; increase since 1910, 227, or 8.8 per cent.

Chamite, Kans., 1920 population, 10,238; increase since 1910, 1014, or 10.2 per cent.

University, Mo., 1920 population, 8792; increase since 1910, 475, or 5.4 per cent.

Kearney township, Neb., including Kearney City, 1920 population, 10,238; increase since 1910, 1014, or 10.2 per cent.

Norman, Okla., 1920 population, 2,004; increase since 1910, 1230, or 61.4 per cent.

Single Bid Received for German Raider

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Only one bid for the former German passenger ship Von Steuben, was received today when the vessel was opened by the shipping board. It was for $1,500,000 from F. Eggena of the foreign trade development board, and action on it was deferred.

Purchase of the vessel is sought for a round the world cruise to stimulate American foreign trade and develop American commercial interests in foreign markets.

NAVY'S THREAT TO SEIZE OIL IS UP TO DANIELS

VALLEJO, July 7.—There was a deadlock today between the Mare Island supply department and the Union Oil Company over the threat of the naval authorities to seize all at the Oleum plant. Captain J. J. Cheatham, supply officer, has offered the navy's price of $1.60 a barrel. Thomas A. Hays, assistant to the president of the company, demands $2.50. Captain Cheatham has said he will send a destroyer to take the oil needed, and Hays says if this is done the company will withdraw its offer to sell the plant so as to make it impracticable for the navy men to draw the oil. Cheatham has decided to submit the matter to Secretary of the Navy Daniels before taking definite steps.

SAN JOAQUIN ADDS HALF FOR DECADE

Special to TRIBUNE.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—Complete official census returns issued today by the census bureau for San Joaquin county show an increase in population of that county of 57.5 per cent. The county's 1920 population is 79,905.

The county's population by townships is:

Castroville	4,064
Dent	5,118
Dikhoru	2,302
Elliot	1,758
Liberty	1,818
O'Neal	15,382
Stockton	32,577
Tulare	4,547
Union	1,688

The population of the city of Stockton has been previously announced by the bureau as 49,286. This represents an increase of 11,042 over 1910 or a per cent increase of 73.3. The increase in the city of Stockton from 1900 to 1910 was 32.8 per cent. The 1910 population was 22,243.

Populations of other incorporated places in San Joaquin county were first announced today as follows:

JULIA CARRANZA BLAMES OBREGON

WASHINGTON, July 7.—A letter written by Julia Carranza, daughter of the late president of Mexico, "bit-terly denouncing her father's assassin," was received at the Seva-dorean legation here today, with a request that it be made public and also that a copy be laid before the state department. The letter, which was signed "Julia Carranza," said:

"The writer charges Alvaro Obregon with responsibility for Carranza's death. 'Messages and other proofs which exist show he was the only one who insisted on the execution of Carranza. Carranza writes: 'This is the reason why Carranza was killed. He was the only one who understood the indignation of the Mexican people.' She continues, 'I have in my possession the clothing which my father wore when he was assassinated. It has the blood-stains and the seven bullet holes which caused my father's death. It is incontrovertible proof of this dreadful crime. In Mexico, as well as here, they have attempted in vain to convince the public that Carranza killed my father because he had ordered the execution of Carranza's father, charges which finally proved false. Later they invented the cynical fact that Carranza, a Mexican people are not giving credit to either version. I desire above anything else to make public an energetic protest against the assassination of my father. I make this protest in this hospitable country, as my country is deprived of liberty of speech by the leading militarist and there is no responsible government.'"

"The girls, who came over on the same ship, lost each other in New York, traveled alone to Oakland and then met their prospective husbands. Then they were reunited."

Charles P. Siedendorff, 32, of Escalon, and Madeline Bats, 18, of Bordeaux, were the first to apply for licenses. They had just filed the office when John C. Shay, 37, of 2004 San Antonio avenue, Alameda, and Miss Claire Maurice, 23, of Bordeaux, applied.

When Stewart Gemmell, clerk, remarked that he had just issued a license to another girl from Bordeaux, the story came out. As the first couple had proceeded to the office of Police Judge Mortimer Smith to be married, Gemmell hastened the second license and both couples were married at the same time by the judge.

SANITARIAN URGES WAR ON DISEASE

NEW YORK, July 7.—Eight hundred million people living in the world's "malaria zone," which practically coincides with the tropical and semi-tropical regions of the earth, are subject to the "cripping and deadly influence of that disease," according to George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation. Residents of the southern part of the United States, Mexico, Central America, the West Indies and the northern part of South America are included in the "malaria belt," said Vincent, who today issued the second of a series of reviews on the Foundation's work against malaria and hookworm for the year 1919.

Practical methods for fighting malaria, as used by the Foundation's sanitarians, include elimination of the germ carrying anopheles mosquito, and the use of quinine to sterilize the blood of human malaria carriers.

"Public funds are a necessity in the control of malaria as well as hookworm," the reviewer continues, "and are being appropriated faster than sanitarians can be found to do the work."

"Fire Spotting" Is No Longer Woman's Job

MISSOULA, Mont., July 7.—Women lookouts will not be employed by the forest service during the fire season this year, it is announced. While America was in the world war, a number of them were engaged as lookouts in the woods to "spot" fires, but with the close of the war the return of the men from abroad, the necessity for women in this rather hazardous employment is removed, forestry officials at local headquarters say.

Several women school teachers in summers past have found employment of this kind in District One, among those last year being Miss Mary O'Donnell, who in 1918 was a candidate for state school superintendent on the Democratic ticket.

THREE HELD IN WOMAN KILLING

CHICAGO, July 7.—Lieutenant Carl Wanderer, whose wife was killed in the vestibule of their apartment building several weeks ago, presumably by a man whom Wanderer killed in a pistol duel that followed several days before the shooting.

Carl Wanderer was taken into custody and said, according to police, that after killing the man he told the police after the shooting that he had killed him as the

that the man he killed had slain Mrs. Wanderer after attacking them without provocation. Wanderer said he then killed the man with his army pistol. A similar gun was found who has never been identified.

Through the factory police traced a number of a pistol believed to belong to the dead man and found that Wanderer's brother-in-law was the original owner. The brother-in-law, John Hoffman, said he sold the gun to Fred Wanderer, a cousin of the lieutenant.

Fred Wanderer, when arrested, told the police, they say, that Carl had borrowed the gun from him several days before the shooting.

Carl Wanderer was taken into custody and said, according to police, that after killing the man he told the police after the shooting that he had killed him as the stranger's gun appeared to be a better weapon.

Police are holding the three while they trace the ownership of the other gun.

Wilson-Cox Parley at White House Seen

BY UNITED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—Administration officials expect a conference between President Wilson and Governor Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, to be arranged soon. They believe the proposed conference will serve as the final halting of rumors that there is friction between Wilson or his followers and Cox.

WEDNESDAY JULY 7, 1920

AN EARLY HANDICAP

In choosing their nominee for the Presidency the Democrats have made it certain that Ohio will furnish the next occupant of the White House. Both Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, and Governor Cox hail from the Buckeye State.

The Democrats also have elected for their standard bearer a candidate who will probably poll as large a vote as any other they might have selected. Assuredly he appears to command more strength than would have been within the capacity of either Mr. McAdoo or Mr. Palmer, the two men favored by President Wilson. Governor Cox is also held highly in the regards of the people of Ohio and it is inevitable that the contest in that State will assume its most interesting phase.

But the manner of the selection of the Democratic nominee will prove a handicap in the coming campaign. The Ohio Democrat was the choice of the "wets" in the convention against the entire field of candidates, and his nomination was brought about by the vigorous and nearly always effective efforts of those men who represent the most objectionable and lamentable form of party bossism. Cox was the first and only choice of Charles F. Murphy of New York, Tammany boss; of Tom Taggart, the Indiana manipulator; of George Brennan of Chicago, the late Roger Sullivan's successor in the invisible control of the Democratic party; and of Nugent of New Jersey and of Walsh of Massachusetts.

These gentlemen controlled the most vociferous wet delegations in the convention—of New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey, who came with the expressed purpose of putting a wet plank in the platform, or at least to keep out the Bryan dry plank, attached themselves to the Cox candidacy early in the balloting and stuck with him until the exhausted delegations of all the States fell in line.

Apparently appreciating the embarrassment that such friends may bring to his campaign, Governor Cox yesterday gave out a statement calculated to dissipate the strong impression that he is "wet." Without declaring himself categorically, he explains that he stands for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the laws enacted for carrying that amendment into effect.

But the badge of Murphy and Brennan, of Taggart and Nugent, of New York and New Jersey wets, will be hard to throw to one side. Mr. Bryan has already indicated that if he and the faction he represents in the party should have anything to do with it the relations between the nominee and the wet advocates shall not be ignored. He openly calls attention to the fact that Mr. Cox is a wet candidate, on a platform that is evasively silent on the prohibition question. Mr. Bryan asserts there were a number of other available candidates to prevent this handicap from becoming attached to the nominee and for this reason he charges the party has placed itself with the reactionaries.

Unless unexpected and apparently impossible changes in public sentiment take place between now and November, there is little probability that Governor Cox will be elected. His political adversary, Senator Harding, is a personage to command far larger strength, who has a record of positive support for the prohibition movement, of experience in large public affairs, a superior knowledge of national and foreign policies, and of fine attainments in statesmanship, qualifications of which Governor Cox has given inadequate proof.

With the rule of the evasion which guided the platform framers, the candidates and the majority of the delegations it would have been too much to expect that an absolutely dry ticket such as Mr. Bryan so ardently desired would have been selected by the Democrats, but the fact remains that the wet representatives in the convention picked Governor Cox as their own and stood behind him until they forced his acceptance upon the convention.

Having put the League of Nations first in their platform and having employed perfectly clear and definite terms to describe their stand, the delegates to the San Francisco convention have served with complete honesty and unmistakable purpose the desire of President Wilson that the League be made an issue of the coming presidential campaign. But they have not made it clear, and cannot make it clear, that the President acted wisely or in the best interest of the nation and a people desiring peace, when he killed the peace treaty with the Lodge reservations to the League covenant. It is one thing to desire and preserve a campaign issue, and an entirely different thing to keep the country in a legal state of war until two years after the cessation of actual hostilities.

HASTE AT THE WRONG PLACE

Responding to importunities and threatening tactics by the outlay yardmen's organization the Federal Railroad Labor Board has promised to hand down its decision on the several requests for wage increases before July 20. It is possible that the decision will be rendered before the end of the current week; in any event it will be made public within the next twelve days.

In the meantime it would be well for both the workmen and railroad operators to consider whether it was wise to try to hustle the labor board. The board has a lot of trying, painstaking and important work to perform in reaching its decision and it is doubtful whether speed at the cost of careful examination and study will advance the cause of the worker. As a rule, when such bodies are exhorted to speed their work they become careful about going too far and of taking a step which cannot be supported by verified facts.

The Railway Age comments upon this point with apt references when it observes that when the transportation act was passed there was pending ready to be referred to the board, wage demands of railway employees amounting to a sum exceeding the total expenses of the United States government before the war. Surely no class of citizens should be impatient with the board for desiring to take sufficient time to enable it to arrive at a full understanding of all the issues involved and the probable effects that will follow its decision. The railway journal continues:

"It was not the board's fault that action on the demands of the employees had been postponed month by month by the government's Railroad Administration, or that President Wilson delayed to appoint its members. It would have been a herculean task for any body of men to determine, as between the different classes of railway employees and as between them and the public, the equities involved in demands coming to $1,000,000,000 a year. Nevertheless, ever since it was appointed tremendous pressure has been put on it to make it 'step lively.' The 'outlaw' strikes of railroad employees have seriously interfered with transportation. But they have also afforded the best demonstration of the need for some agency for dealing intelligently and impartially with railway labor controversies. Nevertheless, the heads of the railroad labor brotherhoods, and even some business men who ought to know better, have used the outlaw strikes constantly to put pressure on the board to make it hurry."

If the members of the railway labor board are of the quality of men that should be selected to serve in this important capacity they have not permitted themselves to be coerced into precipitate action by the strike threats. It must be assumed that the promise to render a decision before July 20 was based upon actual progress that had been achieved before the threats were made. If this is true the railroad workers will find occasion to be specially pleased, for any charge that the wage adjustment agency was driven into a premature determination of wage increases would have a weakening effect.

Predatory animals are a menace and cause, it is estimated by government experts, a loss of $20,000,000 annually to the stock growers of the Rocky Mountain area. An army of 400 hunters are maintained to kill mountain lions, bob cats, wolves and coyotes. It is to be hoped that the enemies of domesticated food animals will be speedily controlled, but there is something pathetic in the contemplation that the once glorious fauna of the United States will soon be reduced to rats, mice and English sparrows.

The Declaration of Independence contains only 1321 words and St. Matthew's story of the Crucifixion only 1200 words. Yet political party platforms are not considered presentable unless they are 7000 or 8000 words long. The trouble often is to be found in the fact that platforms lay special stress on words.

THE WEST IS GROWING UP.

The gradual emergence of the Far West into a position of new power and influence in the national life is marked by the census report giving a list of the first twenty cities in the country in point of size. For the first time the Pacific Coast has a city among the first ten. Los Angeles, with a population of 575,480, an increase of 49.2 percent since 1910, has risen from seventh place and ousted Buffalo from tenth. Among the first twenty cities the name of another Pacific Coast city, Seattle, also appears for the first time. With a population of 115,632, an increase of 53.1 percent since 1910, the flourishing Northwest coast port has displaced Jersey City as nineteenth in rank. San Francisco retains her former position as eleventh, with a population of 762,410. The most phenomenal gain is made in the Middle West, where Detroit has moved from ninth place to fourth, with a gain of 112.4 percent, making its population 937,733. Cleveland has risen from about place to fifth, with a gain of 46.1 percent, giving her a total of 796,836.

Several Eastern cities have dropped. Boston has fallen from fifth place to seventh, Baltimore from seventh to eighth, Pittsburgh from eighth to ninth, Buffalo from tenth to twelfth and Newark from fourteenth to fifteenth. The only Eastern city to advance in position is the capital, Washington, D. C., which has risen from sixteenth to fourteenth place with a 32.1 percent increase, making its present population 47,468. All this gives Easterners something to think. The young man has gone West with a vengeance. The vigorous growth of these communities is an augury of the importance of the role which the West is destined to be playing before we are aware.—New York Evening Post.

NOTES and COMMENT

From the numerous airship fatalities it looks as though more persons not qualified by experience and aviation knowledge are being entrusted with these craft and permitted to take innocent persons aloft than should be. Epitaph may lead the novice to think that he knows how, but something might be done to safeguard the lives of those not aware of the danger incurred in trusting themselves to such care.

The late convention fell four short of equalling the number of ballots taken eight years ago at Baltimore. They were in for a hold-over session, they might have gone for the record at San Francisco.

Already it is pointed out with pride by those who feel that there should be a convincing argument that the convention deadlock showed that there was no boss. What appears to have been the situation, however, is that there were too many small bosses unequal to the job.

Both parties have troubles in Missouri. The Republicans want to depose the two committeemen who advocated peace, extracted them by Governor Lowden for primary campaign purposes, and a contingent of the Democrats want to row because Senator Reed was denied a seat in the national convention. Only another illustration of the fact that everybody has to be shown in that State.

The recent convention has two records. For the first time in the political history of the country a woman presided at a national political convention, and also for the first time in the history of the two great parties a woman was the recipient of a ballot for President.

The Eskimo hop is understood to be the newest thing in dances. It has been taken up in London ballrooms. As it originated with a people who danced in the snow, just how they manage the accessories is a matter of curiosity.

At the meeting of the allied delegates with German representatives at Spa, to check up on reparations and indemnities, and to consider war crimes, the German chancellor said he was glad of the opportunity to meet and talk with the allies. As the presiding delegate was the Belgian representative, there must have been others who were experiencing satisfaction, also.

This wage increase gets the high as well as the low. Queen Mary made her last strike on Queen Mary or England. They were worth $250 a year, and demanded a raise of 10 per cent, which would have been $25. Queen Mary refused it. Considering how such things go here, it looks rather tight in Mary.

A close-up of James Hamilton Lewis warrants the conclusion that his catlike and poetic whiskers are still maintained in all their pristine effectiveness. The only mystifying thing is that they did not figure more prominently in the convention.

The delegate to the recent convention who snored while a ballot was being taken should not be considered as an individual, but illustrated as an attitude of the whole body, which long before had displayed the sign, "What's the use?"

Senator Reed of Kansas City has reached home and is striking in every direction. He was very severely steam-rollered, and that's a fact, but if that inspires his reported action he was not justified in striking in more than one direction. It was his own party that steam-rollered him.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Attempt to scandalize a high tribunal by the Richmond News: "All members of the Supreme Court were present when the prohibition decision was handed down. In other words, the dry decision was handed down by a full court."

Dramatic criticism from the Richmond Terminal: "The bare legs of the ballet girls, when well catemined, are not so bad when focused from a reasonable distance from the footlights. However, the knee-caps of some of the girls at a downtown vaudeville require sandpapering."

The Richmond News knows a thing or two: "We know this—a man who keeps moving will not have shiny-seated pants as quickly as the man who seeks an old stump in the shade to sit on and somewhere to spit."

Backs item from Long Beach Press: "When a boy baby is born in Ohio the fond parents begin figuring out what he will do during the two terms that he is to serve in the White House when he grows up."

Zane Grey seems to be meeting with a certain amount of hard luck. He has been broadbilled, having fought two hard battles during the week, only to end up by wearing out the line, or with a frozen reel. He took Friday off to overhaul his equipment—Catalina Island.

Just as soon as Mr. Bryan reached the convention at San Francisco he began, figuratively and politically, to smell the delegates' breath.—Richmond News.

This is the season when the professors of Foolish Statistics are in the midst of their calculations. One of them announces that the fly per cent is upon us and that the same is not a sanitary era. After working on the problem for six weeks the professor concludes that, notwithstanding the scarcity of new houses in Bakersfield and the nation, the fly crop has not been diminished. We should like to add that preaching against flies never killed one.—Bakersfield Californian.

ENGLAND'S WHEAT

By DR. FRANK M. SURFACE.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—On the average the United Kingdom produces less than 25 per cent of its wheat requirements. With the exception of 1918 the production of wheat in the United Kingdom showed an increase each year over the pre-war average. The net imports, however, were below the pre-war average in every year and showed a reduction of nearly 20 per cent in 1918. The apparent consumption as calculated from production and imports was low in 1915, but in 1916 and 1917 was not far from normal. In 1918 the poor crop and small imports forced the consumption of wheat far below the average. Again in 1919 the lack of shipping prevented a larger import and the apparent consumption was below normal.

In addition to these changes in production and apparent consumption the war had a far-reaching effect upon the source of the wheat shipped to the United Kingdom. Prior to the war the United States and Canada supplied only about 45 per cent of the wheat unloaded at English ports. The bulk of the remainder came from Argentina, Australia, India and Russia. During the later years of the war the United States and Canada supplied between 75 and 80 per cent of the total English imports of wheat. In 1917 the United States alone supplied nearly 60 per cent of the total imports.

That the imports of wheat from the United States to Great Britain increased very greatly during the war is brought out by the following figures:

Year	Imports from the United States (Long tons)	Percent increase over pre-war average
1911-13	1,474,840	0
1914	2,096,574	43.2
1915	2,550,834	72.9
1916	3,587,069	145.2
1917	2,288,537	121.6
1918	2,486,418	68.5
1919	2,201,596	50.0

In 1918 the imports of wheat from the United States had increased 142 per cent.

These results show clearly the effect of the exchange situation on our markets abroad. The present price of wheat in Argentina for example is approximately $2.70 per bushel, compared with $2.75 and up in this country. The English pound sells at a discount of from 20 to 30 per cent in the United States.

(Copyright, 1920, by Washington Herald.)

NONSENSE ABOUT WHEAT COST. The United States department of agriculture is a great and helpful institution. It has done more for one class of our citizens than any other governmental institution has ever attempted to do for any other class.

But when the department of agriculture undertakes to tell us that the average cost of growing, reaping and threshing the 1919 wheat crop was $2.15 the bushel, it demands too much of our credulity.

It is true that the average American wheat production of less than sixteen bushels to the acre is scandalous proof of poor farming. But even with the present high cost of farming nobody is foolish enough to believe that it costs anything like $2.15 an acre to plough, sow and garner grain.

The department of agriculture is either deliberately trying to produce material for propaganda to keep up the high price of flour or it is in sore need of radical changes in its statistical bureau.—Brooklyn Standard-Union.

WORD BUILDING. To the editor of the North China Daily News: Can you tell me whether the following words joined together can be made into one word?

Anti—A prefix meaning against. Disestablishment—Annulment of establishment. Arian—A compound suffix forming nouns. Iste—An adjectival suffix. Ally—Adverbial termination reading as whole. "And disestablishment."

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Why You Should Live Beyond 'Three-Score Years and Ten'

By Dr. LEONARD K. HIRSBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

The span of a man's life shall be three score and ten, after which he would be gathered unto his fathers. Perhaps no man's final passage from this living world at the age of 70 is due to this influence, but there may be some individuals who feel that it would be sinful to live beyond 70 and, therefore, do not.

As a matter of fact, a translation from the anciently inspired words "three score and ten" written in Hebrew and Greek, might just as well be four or five score and ten. Indeed, the Biblical account of ages is open to various interpretations and translations, as witness the alleged ages of many others besides Methuselah, who, according to the Old Testament, lived 953 years.

The scientific and medical discoveries of the present generation alone need only be emphasized to confirm the facts of Prof. William H. Welch of Johns Hopkins University, that a man ought still to be full of "pep," initiative, resourcefulness, endurance, stability and power in his seventies. The X-rays, it has been estimated, have added an average of from five to seven years to the age of men and women over 45.

Anti-typhoid vaccination, which has made typhoid practically extinct in communities and camps where it is universally employed, has given, according to Sir Almroth E. Wright, an average of six years extra life to mankind.

The recognition of high blood pressure by means of the mercury monometer, and heart block and fibrillation by the electro-cordigraph has certainly added to the span of life of men over 50 and 60.

Prohibition and the abolition of habit-forming drugs such as heroin, cocaine and opium derivatives have greatly diminished heart, kidney, liver and arterial maladies, the very disorders which have tended most to perpetuate "the degenerative diseases," the very disorders responsible for "the three score and ten" limit.

Dr. Donald M. C. Caskey reports that "artificial sunburn," caused by strong ultra-violet rays, the products of mercury-vapor quartz lamps, stores up such vitality and renewed energy in men of 50 and 60 that they undoubtedly carry them many years further in life than could formerly have been expected.

These instruments of precision, together with marvelous surgery, cancer operations and the application of asepsis, disinfection and mosquito and fly destruction have contributed some share in the happiness, health, cheerfulness and certainty that more men and women reach the nineties than ever before.

Therefore, do not be worried any by faulty translations of inspired prophets, who were vouchsafed their utterances in ancient tongues of permit yourself to feel concerned over any errors of a "three score and ten" limitation to your useful old age.

WHERE THE LOSS IS

According to Congressman Gallivan it costs eighty-eight millions a year to enforce prohibition. That's a rather large sum, but we are saving a good deal on drink, which would help some if we didn't have to hand it over to the profiteers.—Philadelphia Press.

'YOU CAN'T FIND ME GUILTY,' SHE SAID; IT WAS SO

Prospects of six months in jail did not worry Martha Scott, 22, as she faced Judge Samuels today in a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. She smiled and tossed her dark tresses while she waited. Arrested last night by Patrolmen C. T. Anderson and Louis Kirsch, at Ninth and Broadway, she had, it was alleged, refused to account for late hours she was keeping. "I am married and only came here two weeks ago from Seattle, your honor, and this charge against me is unfounded," she said today. "But here is the testimony of the arresting officers, who say that you have been walking about the streets at unseemly hours," said the judge. "HAW NO WITNESSES," she replied. "I have done nothing wrong," the girl insisted. "Have you any witnesses to appear in your behalf?" "No, your honor." "Well, there is nothing else for the court to do but rule on the evidence before it." "I am satisfied to have the court rule on the evidence before it in this case," said the girl, smiling. "Only judge, the evidence is not all before it yet as it happens." "What more have you to present?" said the judge. "I just said that you had no witnesses." "Just this," was the reply. "Even if I were guilty as charged, you would have to let me go."

THE JUDGE SAT UP.
The judge sat up straight. But the girl drew from her pocket a paper and passed it across the bar. "That will show that I am of Indian blood and was born in California," said the girl. "And if I am not mistaken, the law provides that no person of Indian blood can be convicted of vagrancy. And here is another paper showing that I have a government grant of $80,000 in this state valued at $80,000, which will further substantiate my statement."

"There is nothing to do but dismiss the case," said the judge.

Kelley Trial May Hinge on Potency of Sherry Tipple

Presentation of evidence by the prosecution in the trial of Joseph M. Kelley, Alameda county politician and business man, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, started today before Judge J. F. Trabucco of Marin county, who is presiding in Department No. 3 during the vacation of Judge L. S. Church.

With the completion of the jury at noon Frank Shay, deputy district attorney, made the opening statement for the prosecution.

He said the State would seek to prove that Kelley stuttered when arrested, that he drove his car in a weaving path from Fallon street to the Auditorium where it was stalled on the tracks, and that he showed other evidence of being intoxicated.

George H. Posey, deputy county surveyor, testified as to the location of streets and tracks referred to.

The trial is creating much interest in political circles. Kelley served as a supervisor for about sixteen years and later was elected county assessor. Since retirement from office he has been engaged in business.

FACIONS ARE OPPOSED.
The name of Walter J. Petersen, former chief of inspectors, is being frequently mentioned by the counsel for defense in its examination of the trial jurors. Nearly everyone is asked if they know Petersen, the former police head is brought into the trial by reason of the fact that he refused to allow Kelley his release upon his own recognizance. It is said, and announced that the case would be vigorously prosecuted.

In the Petersen score it is intimated about the courthouse and two political factions are lined up on each side of the case and that the trial will be more bitterly contested than otherwise.

Questions by counsel also have indicated that the jury will be called upon to decide whether three glasses

CONTROL BOARD MEMBER SCORES U. C. INITIATIVE

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Declaring the proposed University of California initiative measure to provide finances for that institution favors the public service corporations and takes university finances away from control of the legislature, Clyde L. Seavey, member of the State Board of Control, speaking for the board, said today he would oppose it in its present form.

"Passage of the measure is the final step towards an educational oligarchy," he said.

No part of the taxation burden would be borne by public service corporations, he said.

Seavey said he had called attention to the measure to the university to the "glaring faults" contained in the measure, but he declared no change was made in it.

"The measure is so adroitly drawn," he declared, "that the casual reader would not discover the significance."

"The two principal objections to the measure are:

"First, the amendment levies an ad valorem tax only upon what is designated as non-operative or general property and no part of the burden will be borne by the public service corporations. The measure flouts and ray Gallop, Police Inspector E. P. Tracy and John E. Gannaw. It is not known what witnesses will be called by the defense.

Nine women and three men compose the jury. They are Mrs. Maude Harding, Mrs. Elita S. Gunning, C. A. Hawes, Mrs. Sarah E. Lovett, George Grindell, Mrs. Clara S. Eaton, Mrs. Sarah Hays, Mrs. Emma Cass, Mrs. Lucinda Staphenhorst, P. A. Keith, Mrs. Theodora Pfaff, Mrs. Theresa Schmitt.

MISS ANXIOUS IS UNVEILED AS MAN BY U. C. SLEUTHS

BERKELEY, July 7.—Miss Anxious, summer student at the University of California, whose cry for a platonic friendship with a "nice college boy" aroused the Berkeley campus, has been discovered!

Whisper it low, say the college sleuths who have traced the feminine writer to her lair. Miss Anxious is not a "miss" at all! Neither does she prefix a "Mrs." to her name. "He" is just a cruel male student anxious to have a bit of fun with the summer girls on the campus.

A startling expose of Miss Anxious appears in this morning's Summer Session Californian, following a week's active work by college journalistic sleuths detailed to trail the complaining feminine writer. A masculine twist of the pen in an unguarded moment is declared to have led to the revelation of the writer of the anonymous notes. But the case was not made until a new letter had been published from the coo Miss Anxious, telling of her discovery of a "nice boy" at a college dance.

"Well, I went to the dance last Friday night," writes the now exposed Miss Anxious. "I had such a wonderful time."

"I met a nice boy from Milpitas. He is not a regular student here, but expects to enter this fall. We got along fine together, even though I am a few years older than he is. And then he spoiled it all—when he took me home he said, 'Good night, dear.'"

"I am really disappointed. When a member of the reception committee introduced the young man to me I thought that my previous letter had done some good—seemed to be such a nice boy, and I found out all about him—and then he got fresh!"

"Mr. Editor, I appeal to you, can not something be done to prevent such things?"

Thus far the name of Miss Anxious has not been disclosed by the college editors. They say they will watch his actions, however, and upon future behavior will depend his fate.

City Urged to Establish Own Emergency Hospital

BERKELEY, July 7.—Councilman Charles D. Heywood today urged the establishment of a municipal hospital to take the place of the emergency ward now maintained by the city in Roosevelt hospital.

Heywood's proposal follows complaints made to the police that officials at Roosevelt have attempted to "cover up" emergency cases when no publicity was desired by persons involved.

Councilman Heywood said: "The present arrangement of the city for emergency treatment of accidents is altogether inadequate. I attach principal blame upon the city government for conditions, however. The city secures the service for payment of only $150 per month. I believe the city gets full value for this expenditure, but the fact remains that the emergency service is not good."

"Roosevelt hospital employs no regular physician to care for emergency cases. As a result, when an accident case is taken there, the victim is often compelled to wait until a physician can be called by telephone. Such a condition is regrettable. There are cases when a few moments' delay may mean the life or death of a person. Yet the city government knowingly allows this to exist at Roosevelt hospital because we are getting the service cheap."

A small emergency hospital of its own, equipped and maintained by the city, is the solution as seen by Heywood. That $5000 would equip the Berkeley Dispensary and provide an interne and a physician for one year is Heywood's estimate. At the present time Roosevelt hospital is under a contract for one month with the city, following the expiration of its yearly arrangement on July 1.

SCHOOL BIDDERS WILL BE GIVEN BONDS FOR WORK

BERKELEY, July 7.—The board of education yesterday stipulated that no more contracts will be awarded unless the bidders agree to accept payment in bonds. Under the law, the school officials cannot sell bonds below par, but can allow the contractors the additional sum between the market value of the securities and the original figure.

Berkeley's school bonds bear interest at five percent. The fact that they are now selling below par and that difficulty is being experienced not only by the college city but by Oakland as well in disposing of the securities, led the board to take action yesterday in order that work on the schools still remaining to be erected can be completed as far as possible before the opening of the fall term.

A total of $821,000 of the original bond issue of more than $2,000,000 voted last year still remains to be disposed of.

Ordinance Increases Meat Inspection Pay

The pay of inspectors passing on meat in local slaughter houses was increased from $135 a month to $175 a month by an ordinance laid before the city council this morning by F. P. Morse, commissioner of public health and safety, and passed by a vote of 10 to 2.

The pay of the municipal inspectors is regulated by the rate paid by the slaughter houses, and the new ordinance, which is in other respects identical with the present ordinance regulating the inspection of meat in such places, stipulates a rate that will provide the inspectors with the $40 monthly increase.

ATTORNEY IS OWN DIVORCE LAWYER

Representing himself as defendant, Attorney E. M. Galvin, 425 Montgomery street, San Francisco, refused to contest the divorce action of Mrs. Elma Galvin when it came before Judge A. F. St. Sure today, and she was granted an interlocutory decree on the grounds of willful neglect.

Galvin did not cross-examine his wife after she had testified that he had provided support for her in the style to which she had been accustomed, but placed her in an old house in San Francisco and later lived upon her income as a school teacher while he kept his own money and frequently took extensive trips to the East. This situation prevailed for four years while she lived in Danville, where she was principal of a school, the wife said.

While living there, Mrs. Galvin said her husband lived upon her income and commuted to San Francisco. They were married in Los Angeles on September 11, 1912.

Their House Divided; So Was the Furniture

William Frates, foreman of a stock ranch at Blaw, near Livermore, separated the family furniture between himself and his wife, put her half into the road and told her to leave and never to return, a divorce complaint by Mrs. Frates today said.

The couple were married in 1915 and separated last May. Mrs. Frates charges that her husband struck her and called her names.

Aged Oakland Man Beaten, Saves Money

SAN JOSE, July 7.—John Dolan of Oakland, aged 75, was beaten and robbed last evening while walking in the vicinity of the West San Jose railroad station, and today is being treated at a local hospital. The highwaymen failed to find currency which the aged man had saved into the lining of his coat. The man's chief injuries consist of cuts on the scalp inflicted, he stated, by an iron bar which one of the thugs carried.

Racing Man Is Poor Provider, Wife Says

Stephen Judge insisted in following his business or training and using horses and making large sums of money, despite the protests of his wife, Irene Judge, who today brought suit for divorce, alleging cruelty and desertion. According to the complaint Judge frequently left his wife and traveled through the United States racing horses and gambling, amassing large sums of money, but leaving her and her three children without means of maintenance.

The plaintiff asks custody of the three children, Margaret, 16; Elizabeth, 12, and Ruth, 6, with alimony, to be fixed by the court.

Woman Is Killed in Fall From Street Car

Eleven-year-old Junior Figue saw his mother, Mrs. Augustine Figue, 225 Myrtle street, fall to her death last night from a Valencia street car at the Ferry loop in San Francisco. Witnesses collected at the scene drew to a stop, witnesses declare that Mrs. Figue lost her balance and was thrown to the pavement. She fell on her head after being hurled several feet. Mrs. Figue was pronounced dead upon arrival at the Harbor Emergency Hospital where she was rushed.

Red Light Out, Not Red Top, Says Storrs

John R. Storrs, 1610 Todd street, Berkeley, was on trial this morning before Police Judge George Samuels charged with driving an automobile while drunk. He had been arrested June 20, at Twenty-ninth avenue and East Fourteenth street by H. R. Askew, deputy constable, after Storrs had crashed into the rear of another automobile driven by A. H. Rose, 3438 Thirty-fifth avenue. Storrs admitted that he had had a "little Scotch" and a quart of "near beer" just before the accident, but denied he was drunk. He was fined that there was no rear light on the car he struck. The case was continued until tomorrow.

U. S.-Japan Pact Is Orient's Need, Claim

SEATTLE, July 7.—Peaceful development of the Orient, especially in China, depends largely upon the future relations of America with Japan, and a cordial agreement should be worked out between the two countries, according to Charles Bronson Rea, owner and editor of the Far Eastern Review of Shanghai, who sailed from Seattle for the Orient today. Rea, who was a special adviser to the Chinese delegation at the peace conference, says China is in need of tremendous loans to reorganize her government and to promote her industries.

the sunbeam girl, says:

"Really, you know, when you come right down to it, there aren't many girls that have got the chance I've got. And so that's why I've decided to write it into a book. Oh, yes, I know I'm young—only thirteen. But I feel really awfully old; and you know a woman is as old as she feels. FIRST OF CITY'S
SCHOOL BUILDING
WORKS BEGUN

Marking the first actual construction work to be started on the school building program under the recent $5,000,000 bond issue, ground has been broken and men are at work on the reconstruction of the Santa Fe elementary school, 7th, 14th and Market streets, and the Piedmont elementary school, Piedmont avenue, Echo avenue, according to a report today from Mayor Campbell, chief of construction of the building program.

The work on both schools includes additions to the present buildings, the Santa Fe remodeling costing $400,000 and the Piedmont costing $250,000. The work on both schools is being completed according to present plans, by the commencement of the new semester.

All preliminary plans were completed this week for the remodeling of the Prescott, Tompkins, Alameda, Fruitvale and Marzavita elementary schools, and the final plans are being prepared by the staff of architects under the supervision of architect, C. W. Dickey. Bids will be invited during the present vacation.

Plans are also under way for the commencement of construction during the vacation period on the new school unit, the Peralta elementary school to be erected at Alcatraz avenue and North street at a cost of $75,000.

HAYWARD OBJECTS TO MERGER PLAN

Hayward's objection to a city and county government for Alameda county, or lesser area, was stated yesterday at a luncheon of the Oakland Advertising Club by A. W. Beam, president of the Chamber of Commerce in Hayward, as being a fear that any plan which might separate Oakland from the other municipalities in the county would work to the detriment of the prosperity and prestige of the community on the east side of the bay. Speaking in favor of the plan and arguing that it would mean increased prestige, a legal partnership, a reduction in taxes, and other costs, was E. A. Vandever of Oakland.

TEAM WORK NECESSARY
"There must be team work in such a plan," said Vandever, who published statements of many men, including those of the other side, showing that if the proposition is placed before the people some communities will favor it, but others will not.

There is the danger of Berkeley and Oakland forming separate city and county governments which will prevent the advantages of the plan. Opponents of the plan, regardless of what may be said, the feeling exists in the outside communities that the plan is one with which Oakland may separate itself from these cities. We believe, for instance, that Oakland could take our water under such a scheme and we are organizing water associations to prevent any such action. It has been suggested to us that we join Santa Clara and San Joaquin counties but we are not favoring any such action. According to our way of looking at it, the consolidation plan with the possibility of many sections not joining, will lose for us the strength which belongs to the united county.

ARGUMENTS FOR PLAN
Vandever outlined the plan in detail and said in part: "When the Eastbay Water Commission made its report it bumped into the realization that it could in no way make its recommendations effective because there was no legal partnership existing between the Eastbay cities. There are two ways to secure this: a public utilities district or a city and county government. The latter is the one for but one purpose when we could for so many advantages."

A. S. Lavenson spoke briefly and urged the question of road maintenance. It was decided to be held only by Al Carter, that the state aid given for road making and repairs in the county would be withdrawn on all roads within the limits of the city and county governments.

Six Suspects Arrested in Spectacular Resort Raid

Three patrolmen, armed with axes, battered in the doors of what had been reported as a rendezvous of gamblers and bootleggers at 161 Webster street early this morning and arrested six men. The raid was led by Sergeant E. W. Brock. Some of the inmates made their escape through windows.

The police had been watching the place for a number of weeks, last night it was believed enough men were inside to justify a raid. The front door was found to be heavily barricaded and it was a side entrance that gave way to the officers.

Gambling paraphernalia was scattered about the floor and on tables, and a large stock of liquor was on the shelves behind an improvised bar.

Several men escaped through a third exit before the police could enter the main room, but the remaining six men were lined up.

TANGLE OF LOVE
DUE TO 'SPELLS'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Agnes Doekstader-McDonald-Connor-Ogden, a woman who has been married five times, is the only man she ever wanted to marry. True love is stayed on its course by her wedding nine years ago with Charles McDonald; two years ago with William Connor, assistant chief engineer of the Northern Pacific Railway; two weeks ago with Sergeant Harold Ogden, U. S. A., stationed at Camp Lewis. She does not know whose wife she is, but she wants to become the immediate bride of Connor.

"Spells" is the explanation the woman gives for her love entanglements.

TOO MANY 'SPELLS'
Superior Judge Morgan, before whom the couple told their plight, said that the woman had been married five times, and that she had been married to each of them for a different reason. He said that she had been married to McDonald because he was a gambler, to Connor because he was an engineer, and to Ogden because he was a sergeant. He said that she had been married to each of them for a different reason, and that she had been married to each of them for a different reason.

UPSIDE-DOWN ADVICE
"I did not want Connor to locate his business here," she said.

McDonald disappeared shortly after the first marriage of nine years ago. The woman claims a "Vandover" attorney advised her that as he had been gone seven years she could marry without the formality of divorce. She then went "Vandover" and married him. She did not intend to marry him, either, so she left him and came to San Francisco, where she met Connor. The "spell" worked again when a fortnight ago she married Ogden.

"It is my opinion," declared the court, "that Mrs. McDonald—or whatever her name is—is not the only person in this case who is under a spell."

RUNS CAR WITH
LOCK ON WHEEL;
JAILED AS THIEF

Clumpy-clump, clumpy-clump. That was the mode of procedure of an automobile that was being driven down Franklin street last night.

The progress of the car was slow and painful, and it aroused the suspicion of Policeman George Berner.

"Oh, I'll just stick around in case you don't find the key," said Berner. The driver did not find his key. Then he had an idea.

"So I did—very careless of me," he said, and fumbled for his keys. "That's all right, officer, you needn't say to help me. I'll find the key in a minute," he continued.

NOW SIMMERING

With the presidential conventions over, interest now will center in city and state politics. The primaries are due August 31. In Alameda county there are four superior judges to be chosen, two supervisors, four state senators, eight assemblymen and a congressman.

When J. D. King was arrested yesterday and charged with stealing gasoline from a car in a garage, all of the other J. D. Kings in Oakland were made centers of interest.

J. D. King, employed by the Chevrolet Motor company, is the latest to ask that it be made clear that he is not a gasoline pirate. "All of my friends," he says, "profess to believe that I am the man, and are waiting for me all hours of the day and night for some of the gasoline they pretend to believe I have."

WOMAN IN GRIEF
OVER MOTHER
SEEKS DEATH

Despondent over a separation from her husband and the death of her mother four months ago, Mrs. Edwina Perkins, who resides at 5673 Miles avenue, last night attempted to commit suicide by slashing her wrists with a penknife.

Dissatisfied, she says, because death did not come quickly enough by this route, she went into another room with her wrist streaming blood, and there swallowed several tablets of poison.

She was discovered in an unconscious condition and rushed to the emergency hospital.

This morning she was removed to her home by her sister, Mrs. Marguerite King of 567 Twenty-third street. Her chances for recovery are still doubtful, physicians say.

AIR PATROL IS
"LOST" BY U. S.

RED BLUFF, Cal., July 7.—After encountering electrical storms and other difficulties which compelled him to remain four days on a patrol which ordinarily takes but one day and caused the service to list him as missing, Sergeant Wayman Haney of the United States forest air patrol returned to his base here yesterday. Starting out on the morning of July 3 he was compelled by a long sustained electrical storm to land in the Guano Valley in Southeastern Oregon late at night. As his gasoline and oil supply was low he was compelled to leave his machine and make his way as best he could to the nearest town, 110 miles distant. This trip took two days and he made the return flight from the valley yesterday.
